

Editorial

This volume of ARBS integrates authors from 3 continents, America (North and South), Australia and Asia. This feature reinforces ARBS goal of connecting biomedical researchers from all around the world.

Although ARBS is an annual journal devoted to publish review articles, this volume includes two short communications. This editorial decision is a second step devoted to stimulate thematic research on Paracoccidioidomycosis, which is considered the most prevalent systemic mycosis in Brazil. These two studies were awarded in the VIII International Meeting on Paracoccidioidomycosis, Pirenópolis, GO, Brazil, and accepted in ARBS after approval in a peer review process.
